

May 21, 2014

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Marymount University Student Receives HR Leadership Scholarship

ARLINGTON, Va. – Michelle Forster of Centreville, a Marymount University graduate student pursuing a master’s degree in Human Resource Management, is one of three recipients awarded a $4,000 scholarship by the HR Leadership Awards of Greater Washington (HRLA). The others are Lori Glover of George Mason University and Lucia Gabriela Paez Salazar of George Washington University.

HRLA promotes and advances excellence in the profession. Established in 2001, the awards celebrate outstanding service and strategic vision in organizational leadership, risk-taking, innovation, vision, communication, service to the broader community and commitment to ethical behavior.

An HR officer at the International Monetary Fund, Ms. Forster helps a staff of 200 navigate their careers and assimilate into American life.

“Change, even the positive kind, is never easy,” Ms. Forster said. “But my ability to help people through their professional transitions is never boring, always challenging and immensely gratifying. Human resources work allows me to support this worthwhile organization and connect with people in the most positive ways.”

Ms. Forster and the other scholarship recipients will be recognized at the HRLA Gala Awards ceremony on Tuesday, June 10 at the Crystal Gateway Marriott in Arlington. To purchase tickets, visit <http://hrleadership.org/annual-gala>.

-30-

For more information:

Melissa Benik

(703)284-5916

melissa.benik@marymount.edu